I don't believe that the current proposal provides adequate reparations to those injured by Microsoft's anti-competitive behavior. Repeated findings of anticompetitive behavior have not changed Microsoft's activity; their file formats and APIs are still closed, and incursion into yet more markets in which they could leverage their monopoly continues unabated.

Regulation of their behavior, with the threat of severe criminal penalties for failure to comply, is the only remedy that I can see will curtail them. The market must be able to return to a state of competition.

Thank you for your time.
